SUPPORT OUR EXPLORERS WHEN YOU TRAVEL WITH US

At National Geographic Expeditions, travel is our passion—but it's not our only one. We are also committed to giving back to the incredible places we explore. We return a portion of our proceeds to the National Geographic Society, whose explorers are working to preserve, protect, and advance our understanding of the planet and its myriad treasures. By traveling with us, you become part of this effort and help support valuable initiatives around the globe, from vital wildlife studies in the Galápagos to rain forest conservation in Borneo. Below, check out some of the spectacular places you can experience with National Geographic Expeditions, and learn how—by choosing to explore with us—you can help preserve them for generations to come.

TRAVEL WITH NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

Galápagos

10 Days

Experience the magic of the Galápagos Archipelago, where the Lindblad Expeditions-National Geographic Fund has supported a range of conservation programs, including the restoration of Floreana Island and the environmentally focused curriculum at the Tomás de Berlanga school on Santa Cruz Island.
